Particulars re recent Honours (cuttings from Press, Medical or Lay).D.S.O.

Captain (Temporary Lieut.-Col.) Norman Cecil Rutherford, M.B., F.R.C.S., R.A.M.C.—For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when in charge of an advanced dressing station. He worked continuously under heavy shell fire, evacuating the wounded from the forward area, and it was owing to his splendid example of devotion that the work was efficiently carried out.

Military Cross

Temporary Captain Claude Norman Coad, M.B., R.A.M.C.—For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty, in proceeding alone under intense enemy barrage, to the aid of a wounded officer, whom he brought back under circumstances of the greatest personal risk over ground swept by enemy fire. He spent the night in "No Man's Land," displaying the highest courage and devotion to duty in evacuating the wounded under continual heavy fire.

Temporary Captain John Nissen Deacon, R.A.M.C., attached East Yorks Regiment.—For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He showed exceptional bravery and resource on several occasions in attending to the wounded under very heavy shell fire, with complete disregard of his own personal safety.

Temporary Lieutenant David Hammond Fraser, M.B., R.A.M.C.—Whilst his battery was under heavy gas bombardment a shell wrecked the officers' mess dug-out and buried two officers and five men. Lieut. Fraser, helped by a corporal, most gallantly assisted to rescue the buried men and restore respiration, entering the dug-out several times until he eventually collapsed from the gas. On recovering consciousness he again attempted to enter the dug-out, but was prevented from doing so. Later, he collapsed again and remained unconscious for a long time. It was due to his promptness and energy that no more than two of the gassed men succumbed.

Temporary Captain Ernest Eugene Herga, R.A.M.C. When in command of an advanced bearer post he displayed the greatest gallantry and skill in bringing the wounded through heavy hostile barrage, twice crossing the open under machine-gun fire to rescue wounded men. By his skilful organization and great personal courage under fire, the evacuation of the wounded was efficiently carried out.

Temporary Captain James McDonnell, R.A.M.C. When the village was being shelled, a number of men were buried and badly wounded. He superintended a party and worked for three-quarters of an hour, and succeeded in rescuing them. This task was carried out under continuous shelling.

Temporary Captain William Bentley Purchase, R.A.M.C.—For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty, in attending to a wounded driver, with whom he remained under heavy shell fire until he died, having ordered two of his men to go to a place of safety. He had previously shown exceptional bravery and promptness in responding to a call for medical help earlier in the day, when four officers had been killed by shell fire in the battery.

Temporary Captain Arthur Paul Saint, R.A.M.C., attached King's Royal Rifle Corps.—For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He displayed great courage and determination in tending the wounded under heavy fire. His devotion to duty saved many lives.

Temporary Captain Humphrey Meigh Stephenson, R.A.M.C., attached Rifle Brigade.—For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He tended the wounded under heavy fire, and showed a complete disregard for his personal safety. He set a magnificent example throughout.
